How to Use

- Amount to Buy: The recommended dollar amount to invest in each stock
- Shares to Buy: The number of shares you can purchase with that amount
- New %: Your allocation percentage after making these purchases
- Status: Green = Balanced (+2%), Yellow = Watch (+2-5%), Red = Needs rebalancing (+5%)

Quick Tips

- The calculator distributes your DCA amount proportionally based on target allocations
- Stocks showing Red are significantly underweighted - consider increasing their allocation
- You can round share quantities to avoid fractional shares if your broker doesn't support them
- After purchasing, log your transactions in the DCA Log page to update your holdings

Rebalancing Guidelines

Good (+2%) - Portfolio is well-balanced. Continue with normal DCA schedule.

Watch (+2-5%) - Minor deviation. Adjust next DCA purchases to favor underweight positions.

Rebalance (>5%) - Significant deviation. Consider stopping purchases of overweight stocks and increase underweight positions.

Rebalancing Tips

- Rebalance every 14 weeks (quarterly) or when any position deviates >5%.
- Adjust future DCA purchases rather than selling positions (tax efficient).
- Focus DCA on underweight positions for 2-3 weeks to restore balance.
- Don't stress about small deviations - ±2% is perfectly acceptable.
